Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway In Danger

A project that would create 21,000 new jobs, many in the Murray area, is in danger, and local help is needed.

Z. C. Enix, local representative on the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway Authority, has asked for help — and a lot of it.

The Carter administration is considering dumping at least 38 more water projects, including the huge Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway in Alabama and Mississippi, which will connect the Tombigbee River in Alabama and Mississippi with the Tennessee River.

The project is 253 miles long and will provide a direct connection from the midwest to the southeastern Gulf through the port of Mobile. It will also tie together 12 river systems in middle America and link them to the Southeastern Gulf, and thus foreign markets.

The waterway will make Paducah 389 miles closer to the Gulf at Mobile. Paducah will even be 65 miles closer to New Orleans via this shortcut.

Enix will attend a public hearing on the matter in Columbus, Miss., on March 29, to be conducted by the Army Corps of Engineers.

"The purpose of the hearing," Enix said, "is to determine whether 'the people' are for or against the waterway. It is vitally important that we have a strong show of support from throughout the Southeast."

The primary impact area of the Tenn-Tom will consist of 165 counties in parts of Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, and Kentucky. The Kentucky impact area is about a dozen counties in southwest Kentucky, principally the Paducah, Mayfield, and Murray areas.

"What we need," Enix said today in an interview, "is a massive letter writing campaign to congressmen, senators, the governor, and the president of the United States."

"We also need a show of public support at the public hearing this month," he continued. "This can best be accomplished by personal attendance, but if this is not possible, we need letters of support, lots of them, to take with us March 29."

Local persons who would like to send letters of support with Enix may contact him locally between now and Monday. The hearing will be next Tuesday at 10 a.m. at the Whitfield Auditorium in Columbus.

Enix urged any local persons who will be able to make the trip to Mississippi to contact him as soon as possible. "We need as many persons as possible to go to the meeting," and our second best effort will be letters of support to take to the hearing."

Enix emphasized again that the letters of support to the public hearing should be followed up with similar letters to government officials, including the president.

An estimated 28 million tons of traffic will move on the Tennessee-Tombigbee during its first year of operation, which is set for 1986. This will be at an average savings of $2.29 per ton, for a total estimated annual savings of $64 million. That figure is projected to grow to 44 million tons and over $85 million in savings by 1991. Transportation benefits from the Tenn-Tom are national in scope. The latest estimate of direct benefits total more than $94 million on an average annual basis.

The Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway Authority, headquartered in Columbus, was formed by an interstate compact in 1958. Members of the compact are Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee, Florida and Kentucky. The authority has a 30-member board of directors from the five states. The Kentucky members are, in addition to Enix, Governor Julian Carroll, Alex Chamberlain of Louisville, Ed Paxton, of Paducah, John Hay, of Cadiz, and Rep. James Yates of Shively.

Murray City School Board Meets In Regular Session

The Murray City Board of Education met in regular session Thursday night which included an executive session that lasted for two and one-half hours.

During the executive session, Murray High principal Dr. Ray Reeves discussed program and personnel at Murray High.

In other action, the board authorized repairs to a damaged roof at Murray Middle School, the board authorized superintendent Fred Schultz to pursue a change order for light fixtures at Murray Middle and the board approved the use of facilities at Murray High for an April 22-23, 1978, gathering of Jehovah's Witnesses.

Mary Gail Johnson, a kindergarten instructor at Robertson Elementary, was granted a continuation of her leave of absence. The leave will continue through the remainder of the present school year.

Jane Blankenship was granted permission to remain on leave of absence until January 1, 1978. The board also added Deborah McNutt and Denise Lowery to the list of available substitute teachers.

Before the board went into executive session, Reeves discussed several topics with the board.

Reeves said a survey showed approximately 80 students in grades nine through 11 at Murray High were interested in a ROTC program which would be coordinated with the ROTC Department at Murray State.

Reeves also discussed the possibilities of changing the grading system at Murray High. Reeves said an 11-point plan is being considered. It is similar to a "weighted" grading system, which gives more credit for students taking more difficult courses, and the system would also be a key instrument in determining the valedictorian.

Reeves also suggested a plan to solve the attendance problem at Murray High.

City Audit Shows Excellent Condition

An audit showing a dramatic increase in the General Cash Fund of the City of Murray over the past 12 months was approved last night by the Murray City Council.

The audit, prepared by a local accounting firm, indicated that the general cash fund of the city stood at $49,617.39 on Dec. 31, 1976, compared to $11,071.63 on that date in 1975.

Combined with balances in the revenue sharing and other cash accounts, the city has approximately $200,000 in cash on hand, with liabilities due well below that figure.

In commenting on the audit report, councilman Ed Chrisman asked the accountant, "Then the city's financial matters were well handled during the year of 1976, is that correct?" The accountant replied that in his opinion, that was correct.

In 1975, expenditures exceeded receipts by $5,643, while in 1976 that trend was reversed, and receipts exceeded expenditures by a whopping $38,545.76.

Indicative of that fact, the general cash fund dropped from $16,715 at the first of 1975 to $11,071.63 at the end of the year, while it jumped from the $11,071.63 figure to $49,617.39 at the end of 1976.

Pre-Registration Dates Announced For City Schools

Pre-registration for all kindergarten and first grade children in the Murray City Schools will be held Wednesday, March 30, and Thursday, March 31, at both Carter and Robertson Elementary Schools, according to Willie Jackson, Director of Pupil Personnel.

Jackson said enrollment forms will be available at both schools on these dates between the hours of eight a. m. and three p. m. If the parents cannot register the kindergarten or first grade children on these dates, they may call Carter School at 753-5512 or Robertson School, at 753-5022 to arrange a registration time with the school secretary, Jackson said.

Murray Juniors To Present Play Here

"Lights Out," a three act mystery comedy, will be presented by the Junior Class of Murray High School on Saturday, March 26, at eight p. m. in the Murray Middle School auditorium, Eighth and Main Streets.

Members of the cast are Donna Bailey, Laura Shinnors, Deana Sliger, Kathy May, Kim Alley, Lane Bridwell, Johnny McNutt, David Sears, Tressa Brewer, Kent Harmon, and Terry Grogan.

Mark Etherton will direct the play. The admission will be $1.25 for adults and $1.00 for students, according to a class spokesman who invites the public to attend.

Study 12th Street Planned Tuesday

A special work session concerning the Twelfth Street study will be held by the Murray Planning Commission on Tuesday, March 29, at seven p. m., according to Steve Zea, resident planner for the city of Murray.

Included on the agenda are: Discussion of changes in proposed screening amendment; discussion of proposed new zone and the rezoning of Twelfth Street; public hearing date for rezoning of Cain property on Highway 641 South.

The general cash fund shows deposits of $23,552.73 and $26,039.66 at the two local banks, with $25 in petty cash.

The statement of financial condition of the city shows total assets to be $1,327,533.06. This includes the general fund, property and equipment, the disaster fund, emergency fund, anti-recession fund, hospital tax fund, and revenue sharing fund. The statement also shows liabilities of $84,792.73, which includes a $70,000 note payable for the purchase of the Bank of Murray building across the street from city hall, which will be used for central billing.

JOBS PROPERTY

The council ordered an ordinance drawn to change the zoning of a piece of property owned by Loretta Jobs from R-2 to P-O. That property is located at 1200 Sycamore, and has been the subject of much controversy in the past six months, both in the council and in the planning commission.

The motion to draw the ordinance passed on an eight to four vote, with council members Loyd Arnold, Ed Chrisman, Howard Koenen, and Dave Willis voting no.

The motion to recommend that the council approve the rezoning request by Mrs. Jobs was approved by a 5-3 vote with one abstention by the Murray Planning Commission on March 15.

CENTRAL BILLING

Councilman Dr. C. C. Lowry reported on the progress of central billing at last night's council meeting.

"Everything is going well," Dr. Lowry said. "We've encountered some problems, but we've handled them well." He added that "It is quite rewarding to see the response by most everyone involved."

The first combined meter reading will begin April 7, with the first combined bill ready on April 30. That bill will be due May 10, and will be paid in the new central billing office in the old downtown branch building of the Bank of Murray across from city hall.

"A good job by Supt. Tommy Marshall and his workers is about to make central billing a reality," Dr. Lowry said.

"The Murray Electric System wants to come in on our combined collection," Dr. Lowry announced. "This may be the first step toward our final goal."

An agreement between the council and the Murray Electric System Board of Directors was approved by the council on a unanimous vote last night.

That agreement said in part that "after study and investigation, (it appears) that the best interest and convenience of the public will be served by a joint effort to consolidate or centralize the collection of utility charges."

The agreement continues "It is, therefore, agreed by and between the Council and the (Electric) Board that on and after the 1st day of May, 1977, each and every customer of the Murray Electric System, the Murray Natural Gas System and the Murray Water and Sewer System may pay all monthly utility statements either at the offices of the Murray Electric System, or at the City Collection Office, at the corner of Fifth and Poplar Streets."

PARKING METERS

Mayor John Scott requested that the police and traffic committees investigate proposed changes in parking meters and loading zones in the downtown area. That investigation comes at the request of Councilman Ed Chrisman, who also asked the council to advertise for bids for 25-35 new parking meters.

Psychologist To Be Speaker On Campus

A nationally-known research psychologist will be the principal speaker April 4 at the annual Psychology Colloquium at Murray State University.

Dr. Duane M. Rumbaugh, a professor of psychology at Georgia State University, Atlanta, has recently been recognized by The New York Times and Newsweek magazine for his work in teaching a chimpanzee to communicate by way of a computer.

"We feel Dr. Rumbaugh's presentation will have broad appeal in many areas," said Dr. Charles A. Homra, chairman of the Department of Psychology at Murray State, "especially those of biology, special education and philosophy."

University students and faculty as well as the general public are invited to attend the discussion, scheduled for 1:30 p. m. in room 240 of the Special Education Building. Following Dr. Rumbaugh's presentation, there will be a "head-to-head discussion" with faculty and students, Dr. Homra noted.

Rumbaugh's work has been with a six-year-old female chimpanzee who in four years of training has mastered a remarkable computer-based lexicon. Her alphabet consists of nine geometrical symbols, which include a circle, a triangle and a vertical line. Combinations of these symbols, placed on colored keys of a keyboard, represent individual words. A triangle and a line, for instance, indicate "machine." A circle and a triangle stand for "into."

By pressing the keys in sequence, which she can do faster than any human, the chimp produces grammatical sentences which answer researchers' questions, or makes requests for such treats as bananas, a slide show and candy.

The chimp now commands a vocabulary of about 100 words, some of which she has coined for herself. She has managed to reason her way around failures of the equipment and has demonstrated a grasp of time past and time future.

So successful has Rumbaugh's project been officials at the Georgia Retardation Center have adapted the computer equipment, designed by a bio-engineer, for use by severely retarded children who are unable to talk.

A native of Maynard, Iowa, Rumbaugh received his undergraduate degree in 1950 at the University of Dubuque, and his master's in 1951 at Kent State University. He was awarded his doctoral degree in 1955 at the University of Colorado.

This special speaking was planned at the meeting of the board. Z. C. Enix is chairman, Violet Johnson is vice-chairman, and Jane Hopson is secretary-treasurer.

The board will meet on Monday, April 11, at seven p. m. at the court house, along with all precinct chairmen, Enix said.

Should Girlfriends Play Second To Guys

DEAR ABBY: I am a mature 17-year-old girl. Last week I had plans to go to a movie with another girl, my best friend. She called at the last minute to say that a guy she knew had come into town unexpectedly and asked her to go out with him, so our date was off. (She said she knew I'd understand.)

I felt very hurt and let down. My mother said I was wrong to feel that way because it was only natural for a girl to prefer to go out with a guy than with another girl. If a guy suddenly came into the picture, do you agree?

Abby, I don't think I would have broken my date with her had a guy called me at the last minute. I would like your opinion.

SECOND FIDDLE

DEAR SECOND: I don't think it makes any difference whether the friend who suddenly breezed into town was a guy or another girl. Breaking a date at the last minute as your "best friend" did was unfriendly.

DEAR ABBY: Yesterday a salesman came to my door and showed me his product, and before I knew it, I had signed a contract to buy it. I have two years to pay, but now I'm afraid to tell my husband about the monthly installments.

I don't know what got into me, Abby. I really don't need that product, and we certainly can't afford it at this time. (I don't work and have no money of my own.)

Is there any way I can get out of it now?

FEELING SICK

DEAR SICK: Call (or write) to the company and explain that you signed the contract before you had time to think it over carefully. Tell them that you neither need nor want the product, and you cannot afford it.

Some companies will release hasty signers from their contracts. Others will not. (A note to other wives who are financially dependent on their husbands. Discuss all purchases with your husbands first, and don't sign anything in haste.)

DEAR ABBY: I would like your opinion of the business executive (or professional person) who has pictures of the spouse and family prominently displayed on his desk. No one else is interested, and if he (or she) has forgotten what his family looks like, he should take a better look at them when he gets home.

I never know what to say when I am "introduced" to a gallery of pictures. I keep fighting the urge to say, "Who cares?"

NAMELESS IN CHICAGO

DEAR NAMELESS: It doesn't take very long to say, "How lovely!" And there's an outside chance that some people DO care.

The reasons for the gallery display are varied. Some are there because the executive himself (or herself) likes to look at them. Others are there because the spouse has put them there. Some want to crow a little. And some are there for "protection." (I am told that some people need a subtle reminder that the doctor, dentist or lawyer is a family person.)

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

You can gain considerable help from past experience now. Recall how various procedures returned various types of results. Neither drive too hard a bargain nor be too easy.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Personal relationships should be highly congenial. In fact, some of your brighter and more amusing companions could give you some stimulating ideas.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Think "big" and aim for top achievement. This is no day for pessimism. Concentrate on essentials, and don't overlook even the smallest of opportunities.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Opposition from unexpected sources should not disrupt routine or plans previously made. Accept all challenges with your innate sturdiness and affability.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Be careful not to provoke others in business or social gatherings. You may detect flaws in the reasoning of some, but speak sparingly — and only where it will help.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Stand pat on decisions which have been carefully made. Resist temptations to "forget" promises, make spur-of-the-moment changes. Some good news in the offing.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Your active mind needs expression now. Direct it with forethought, discernment. Review investments, future plans. Changes may be required.

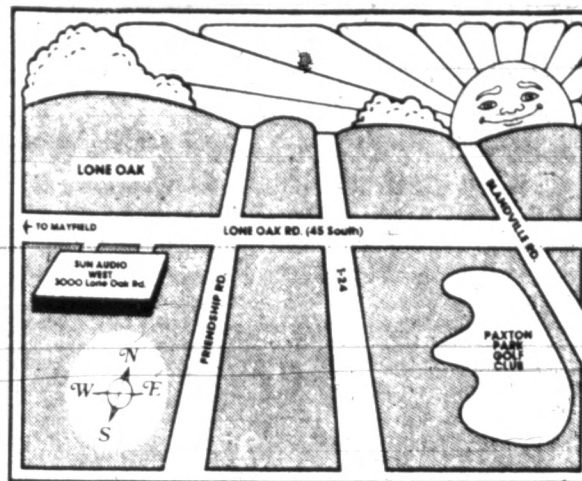

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)

Aspects fairly generous. Past good work should bring rewards now. In making plans, have alternatives ready.

YOU BORN TODAY have been endowed with an excellent mind and exceptional versatility. You have tremendous inner forces which drive you ever onward toward the lofty goals you set for yourself. Unlike many other Arians, your ambitions are not always purely personal, but are usually entwined with a deep desire to improve the lot of others. Your idealism leads you to take up "causes," for which you will battle unflinchingly. And, once having given yourself over to such a worthwhile purpose, your executive abilities and gifts for organization and leadership will prove invaluable assets to the group with which you are associated. Many avenues to success are open to you, but you will probably be happiest in the fields of literature, art, music, the theater or medicine.

Countryside Homemakers Club Holds Meeting At Home Of Debbie Shapla

Debbie Shapla was hostess for the meeting of the Countryside Homemakers Club held at her home on March eighth with the president, Faye Ward, presiding, and members answering the roll call by Marie Wyatt with a favorite spring flower.

Guest speaker was Larry Bartlett, landscape artist from Murray State University, who gave a very interesting and informative talk on "Landscaping." A question and answer period followed. The minor lesson on "Spring Fashions" was presented by Wanda Henry. She also showed a macrame pot hanger with light bulb that she had made.

Members voted to have an Italian meal at the next meeting to go along with the "Italian Cookery" lesson. The group also voted to participate in the County Homemakers Tasting luncheon on April 22.

At noon a potluck luncheon was served. Also present were Linda Beane, Robbie Hale, Carolyn Enoch, Sheila McGinnis, Beverly Vance, Dinah Westerman, Linda Ward, and Joyce Housden, the latter a new member.

The next meeting will be held April 2 at the home of Sheila McGinnis.

In such cases you can help restore lost performance thanks to a special formulation called WYNN'S® ENGINE TUNE UP. This famous oil treatment works in 10 minutes as you drive to help quiet valves and lifters, while it dissolves away harmful deposits. So to help end highway torture, GET WYNN'S ENGINE TUNE UP today.

How Wondrous Are the Works of His Hand.

As a boy David the King was a shepherd. Thus he was in very close communion with nature. He was overwhelmed with the glory of God's handiwork. Many of the Psalms that he wrote proclaim the wonder that he felt when confronted with the beauty of God's world. In Psalm 104, we read, "O Lord, how manifold are Thy works, in wisdom hast Thou made them and the earth is full of Thy riches."

Take a look around you and feel the wonder that David felt. Introduce your children to the beauties of nature. Seeing the world through their eyes may give you a new appreciation of God's world.

ANOTHER ONE—Greg Tooley connected here for one of his three home runs Thursday. As he is running around the paths, he prepares to bring up his fist in a salute to the dugout which was cheering him around the paths. Tooley had seven consecutive hits to tie a MSU record and his three consecutive homers is a new record.

Irwin, Marsh Share Top Spot After First Day Of Heritage

By BOB GREEN

AP Golf Writer
HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — Last year Hale Irwin won two tournaments, lost another in a playoff, was second two other times, went past $1 million in career earnings and collected $252,718.

He says it should have been better.

"I got to be Joe Fat Cat," Irwin said. "During the summer I didn't play as much as I should have and I didn't practice as much as I should have."

"I got out of the habit of scoring. I let my momentum get away from me."

But, he said after a six-under-par 65 had staked him to a share of the first-round lead Thursday in the $225,000 Sea Pines Heritage Golf Classic, it's all coming back.

"Naturally, I'd love to win this tournament," said Irwin, who has taken this prestigious invitational event two times, "but I don't feel my game is exactly where I want it. But it is coming around."

"I am just coming into that momentum, that habit of scoring, that ability to manage my game, that I had early in the year last year."

Irwin, who could have won last week's important Tournament Players Championship but for bogeys on all four par-five holes in the last round, shared the top spot with Australian Graham Marsh, a veteran globe-trotter who came to the United States this year after a tip from Irwin helped him gain the distance he needed.

"I'd always had the ball moving left to right," said the 33-year-old Marsh, winner of some 20 career titles in Australia, Europe and the Far East, but an American tour rookie.

"Hale helped me with my game last year. He showed me something on my setup and got me to moving the ball from right to left, which, of course, gives me much better distance. It got my game to the stage where I thought I could play in America."

Ben Crenshaw was one stroke back at 66, five under par on the difficult, 6,655-yard Harbour Town Golf Links that yielded unusually low scores. He was followed by Tom Watson and Ray Floyd at 67.

Jack Nicklaus and a delighted Jerry Pate, the U.S. Open champ who has been out of action for more than a month with an injured right hand, were in a group at 68 with Charles Coody, Lyn Lott, Danny Edwards and Leonard Thompson.

Gary Player matched par 71. Defending champ Hubert Green shot 73. Leading money-winner Bruce Lietzke was at 74. Arnold Palmer, who won the first Heritage Classic in 1969, was at 75. Tom Weiskopf was disqualified for an illegal drop after posting a 69.

Norton Training

GILMAN HOT SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Ken Norton, who meets undefeated heavyweight Duane Bobick in a 12-round bout in New York May 11, has resumed training for the fight that was postponed when Bobick suffered a torn rib cartilage last month.

Norton arrived Thursday in a new Rolls Royce. "I think I'll get settled today," he said, "and maybe get my arms in shape by waxing the Rolls."

Bobick, meanwhile, was working out lightly at Joe Frazier's Gym in Philadelphia.

Three Consecutive Homers, Seven Straight Hits

Tooley Awes Crowd With Heavy Arsenal Display

By MIKE BRANDON

Ledger & Times Sports Editor
Greg Tooley is making up for lost time. By doing so, he's giving his Murray State teammates and large throngs of sun-soaked fans quite a time!

Tooley went into the record books at Murray State Thursday afternoon as he slammed three consecutive homers for one record and tied another by getting seven consecutive hits as Murray State split a pair of games.

In the opening contest, Tooley belted three consecutive doubles and then on his last trip to the plate, slammed one out over the fence in left as Murray coasted to a 12-2 win over Chicago.

In the nightcap, Tooley belted two homers as the 'Breds had five round-trippers in the game but lost 12-6 to a tough Iowa club.

On his last trip to the plate Wednesday afternoon, he had a single so when he came to the plate in the seventh inning against Iowa, he was going for eight consecutive hits. But he grounded out to third and had to settle for tying the record for most consecutive hits.

The record is now shared by Tooley, Steve Barrett and Coach Johnny Reagan.

"The thing you have to say about Greg is that he's been injured for two years. He probably batted only four or five times his freshman year and he sat out all of last year," Reagan said.

"He's been looking forward to this for so long. He's a real fine power hitter and he has an exceptionally quick bat and powerful wrists. I'm really happy for him," Reagan added.

Being a power hitter is nothing new for Tooley, who is a sophomore eligibility-wise.

Tooley, a 6-1, 180-pounder from Evansville, played for the Rockport American Legion team which in 1974, finished fifth in the nation.

That season, he belted 15 homers and he also had three four-baggers in one game that year.

"Right now, I'm just trying to stay healthy and make up for lost time," Tooley said.

"I really didn't have any idea that I'd tied a record. I was just going up and trying to get a good piece of the ball. The last two pitches I got on my last time up, I could have hit," Tooley said, almost remorseful because he didn't get the record of eight straight hits.

"My first homer came off a curve ball and my next two were off fastballs," Tooley added.

In the opening contest, freshman Southpaw Mike Grieshaber had a no-hitter going until he gave up a single with one out in the fifth. He wound up scattering three hits and allowing two runs in the sixth. The game was called after six because of the lopsided score.

Grieshaber got all the help he needed in the second when the 'Breds put three runs on the board. Murray added two more in the third then exploded for nine in the fourth.

In the second, game, John Siemanowski and Tooley hit back-to-back homers in the bottom of the first to stake righthander Scott Durham to a 2-0 lead but in the top of the second, Iowa bounced back with a pair of runs to tie.

Then in the fourth, everything went wrong for Murray as balls took crazy hops, Texas Leaguers fell like they had eyes and Iowa put six runs on the board, chasing Durham from the hill.

Bill Wagoner homered for the 'Breds in the bottom of the fourth to make it 8-3 but in the top of the fifth with two men out, Ryan smacked a grand slam into rightcenter for Iowa and the Hawkeyes held a 12-3 lead.

In the bottom of the fifth, Siemanowski doubled and Tooley followed with his third homer of the day, making it 12-5.

The final 'Bred run of the game came in the last of the seventh when Don Walker blasted one out into right-center.

The 'Breds had 12 hits in the game while Iowa had 10.

With the split, Murray State is now 10-2 on the season and the nine-game winning streak is over.

Today, the 'Breds will play Iowa and Chicago again. Tooley, who is 21 of 38 on the season, will carry a .553 average into the twinbill.

Saturday, the 'Breds will host Middle Tennessee in an important league doubleheader. Andy Rice and Mark Wezet will draw the mound duties for Murray State.

There is no admission to the games and if you have nothing to do Saturday afternoon, come on out and watch the 'Breds in their quest for an OVC title and a NCAA playoff berth.

Then on Sunday, Murray will play Chicago and Western Michigan before North Dakota comes to town Monday.

McGuire Hoping To Bow Out With NCAA Title

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer
ATLANTA (AP) — Sometime this weekend, before the Marquette Warriors play basketball, Al McGuire will slap on a pair of dungarees and sneakers and climb aboard his motorcycle for a ride to nowhere.

Even in so public an event as the NCAA playoffs, McGuire needs his privacy.

"It's just my way," says the theatrical, unorthodox Marquette coach. "I like getting off by myself. I'll do what has to be done for the NCAA tournament. After that, I like my own time."

McGuire is a rebel with a cause. He has his last chance for a national championship because he is retiring at the end of the season.

An NCAA trophy would be the perfect going-away present for the coach who has everything else.

His teams all have been extensions of his personality. And this year's Marquette model is no different. The Warriors play high-tension, low-scoring basketball.

"I'm a defensive coach for a reason," McGuire says, half-seriously. "I didn't score as a player. I was a slow player and I guess subconsciously I work on defense."

McGuire's opposing coach at North Carolina-Charlotte, Lee Rose, also has a lot of drive, but for a different reason. Rose aches for recognition and certainly will have that if his 49ers beat McGuire's Warriors in Saturday's semifinals at the Omni.

Rose has been waging a virtual one-man battle for acceptance of the UNC-Charlotte program since arriving there two years ago. Part of his hope was to join the Atlantic Coast Conference, but his team was shut out there, leaving him bitter.

In North Carolina's Dean Smith, there is a wistful melancholy despite all his enormous successes. Among Smith's achievements are six ACC tournament titles and seven regular-season championships in the last 11 seasons while going to 11 national tournaments in that span.

However, Smith never has won the national championship, and this all-consuming fire will be burning within him as his Tar Heels face Nevada-Las Vegas.

Considered the dean of American basketball coaches, literally and figuratively, Smith is appearing in the prestigious final four for the fifth time in his career. But the last four times, he watched the national title go to some other team.

Jerry Tarkanian, the coach of Nevada-Las Vegas, has other pressures to deal with—most notably his own ambitions. Perhaps none of the four coaches is as intense as the passionate Rebels' leader nicknamed "Tark The Shark."

Tarkanian's total involvement shows during a game, when he is either chewing on his nonexistent fingernails or turning the wrath of his bite on a towel.

Tarkanian's pressure has not been alleviated, either, by the NCAA, which is investigating the Nevada-Las Vegas program for possible recruiting violations. Long Beach State had similar problems when Tarkanian coached there and the 49ers' program was left in shambles upon his departure four years ago.

Forsch In Mid-Season Form, Blanks Orioles

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Right-hander Bob Forsch of the St. Louis Cardinals blanked six innings Thursday in defeating the Baltimore Orioles 4-0.

"That's the hardest we've seen anybody throw against us this spring," said Earl Weaver, manager of the Orioles.

"Forsch was in mid-season form," said Lee May, first baseman of the Orioles. "He kept everything down and his fastball either sank or took off. I can't believe he was only 8-10 last year."

Forsch struck out five Orioles and allowed only four hits. His six innings were the farthest any Cardinal hurler has traveled this spring. Rookie right-hander John Urrea and veteran Al Hrabosky finished off the Orioles.

Catcher Ken Rudolph delivered a decisive two-run double to highlight a three-run sixth inning which clinched the game for St. Louis. Mike Anderson hit a one-out single and following a walk, Rudolph sliced his hit into right field.

Rookie Ron Farkas followed with a run-scoring single. The Cards' first run came in the first inning on a hit by Garry Templeton and a single by Bake McBride.

Ashland Edges Tilghman In Girls' State Cage Tourney

RICHMOND, Ky. (AP) — It was guard Debbie Johnson who did the damage in the clutch, but Lexington Tates Creek Coach Barry Switzer claims his is a five-girl team.

"We are not, and never have been, a one-girl team," said Switzer. "We have a group of good, confident athletes."

Be that as it may, Johnson put on what amounted to a one-girl show Thursday in leading Tates Creek to a stunning 56-54 upset of previously unbeaten Sheldon Clark in a first round game of the Kentucky Girl's State High School Basketball Tournament.

Johnson poured in 31 points and grabbed 14 rebounds as Tates Creek pulled off the biggest upset of the opening round.

In other first round games Thursday, Ashland edged Paducah Tilghman 42-38 behind Barb Harkins' 24 points, Beth Wilkerson scored 23 points to lead Paris past Breathitt County 59-45, and Madisonville muscled past Taylor County 88-70 as Jill Belcher, Terri Sanchez and Faith Smiley combined for 61 points.

In quarterfinal action this afternoon matching Wednesday's opening round winners, Owensboro meets Laurel County and Oldham County meets Assumption. In tonight's quarterfinals, Paris meets Ashland and Madisonville meets Tates Creek.

Sheldon Clark, 26-1, led Tates Creek most of the way and was ahead 43-41 when the roof fell in. Johnson poured in four straight baskets to forge a 49-43 edge, and Tates Creek stayed ahead the rest of the way.

Sheldon Clark did manage to draw within 55-54 with 18 seconds left, but Tates Creek's Anita Green hit a clinching free throw with only five seconds remaining.

Paducah Tilghman pulled within two points with four minutes left in the game, but Ashland's Harkins answered the challenge by scoring eight straight points to settle the issue.

In addition, the 5-foot-9 Harkins, a center, took over the ballhandling chores in the closing minutes as Tilghman used a desperation press.

"I usually handle pressure pretty well," Harkins said later.

According to Paris Coach Judy Cox, her team was "tight and nervous" in its first tournament start — all, that is, except Wilkerson.

"Beth kept us in the game," said Cox, whose team trailed 23-21 at the half. Wilkerson scored on a rebound for a 40-37 lead with about four minutes to play, and the winners pulled away from there.

Belcher scored 23 points, Sanchez 21 and Smiley 17 as Madisonville rolled to an easy win over Taylor County. Madisonville led 47-24 a minute before halftime and was unchallenged in the second half.

Bosox Lose Three Top Players To Injuries

By The Associated Press
Call Boston the black and blue Red Sox.

The only thing for which the baseball team can be thankful is that Thursday, March 24 is behind them. The fact that they were shelled 8-1 by the Pittsburgh Pirates was the least of their problems.

They also lost two veteran pitchers and an All-Star centerfielder through the most eccentric of mishaps.

Centerfielder Fred Lynn caught his spikes on second base while trying to get back to the bag after a fly ball to shallow left field. That capped a day in which pitcher Rick Wise bruised his left foot by hitting it with a foul tip in batting practice and pitcher Ferguson Jenkins suffered a pulled hamstring while trying to dock his boat after a morning fishing expedition.

Lynn is expected to miss the next seven to 10 days while it was not immediately determined how much time Wise and Jenkins would miss.

Meanwhile, the Cincinnati Reds bruised Los Angeles pitching for 15 hits, including four home runs, in downing the Dodgers 11-9. Mike Lum hit two of the homers, including the shot that broke a 9-9 tie. Ray Knight and Joel Youngblood also connected for Cincinnati.

Milwaukee's Cecil Cooper drove in five runs, including three with a home run off newly-acquired A's pitcher Doc Medich, pacing the Brewers' 10-8 triumph over Oakland.

The expansion Toronto Blue Jays won for the sixth time in 14 outings as Jim Mason had three hits, scored twice and drove in the winning run during a 4-3 victory over the Chicago White Sox. Toronto's expansion mates in the American League, the Seattle Mariners, evened their record at 7-7 by outscoring the Cleveland Indians 16-13 with help from two-run homers by Ruppert Jones and Dan Meyer.

Both New York teams lost, giving up 10 runs apiece. Tommy Hutton's three-run homer in the bottom of the ninth helped the Philadelphia Phillies beat the Mets 10-8, while Roy Smalley homered twice, powering the Minnesota Twins' 10-4 triumph over the Yankees.

Frank Tanana struck out eight in seven innings and Joe Rudi's ninth-inning single drove in the winning run as the California Angels edged the San Francisco Giants 4-3.

Jerry Turner's home run capped a five-run eighth-inning burst by San Diego and lifted the Padres to a 6-2 decision over the Chicago Cubs.

Cookie Rojas drove in four runs, the last two on a tie-breaking single in the 10th inning, giving the Kansas City Royals a 5-3 victory over the Texas Rangers.

Cesar Gonzalez tripled home the winning run in the ninth inning, giving the Houston Astros a 2-1 triumph over the Detroit Tigers.

In split squad games, Gerald Hannahs, Don Carrithers and Joe Kerrigan held Atlanta to one hit, pitching the Montreal Expos to a 2-0 victory over one part of the Braves squad while Atlanta's Andy Messersmith held a Texas squad to two hits over six innings in helping the Braves beat the Rangers 4-1.

Namath Apparently Will Go To Los Angeles Rams

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ah, the allure of Hollywood. Broadway Joe Namath apparently has chosen to take a mammoth salary cut and possibly play backup to a second-year pro on the Los Angeles Rams — and be close to the movies.

Jimmy Walsh, Namath's agent, said Thursday the man who quarterbacked the New York Jets for 12 years has given permission to be traded to the Rams.

Eager would perhaps be a better word. Namath has been trying to go West for the past three years.

After thinking about Namath's $450,000 annual salary, the Jets now appear ready to unload him.

According to National Football League rules, if the Jets pick up the option year of Namath's contract, it would cost them $495,000 for the gimpy-kneed veteran. NFL regulations provide a 10 per cent pay hike to players who play out their options.

Namath, who led the Jets to victory in Super Bowl III against Baltimore eight years ago, likely would be an understudy to Pat Haden, the Rhodes scholar from Southern California.

The Rams might have to pay Namath $175,000 to act as Haden's backup, but it would give the team a chance to unload James Harris, who has asked to be traded.

Namath has appeared on television and in motion pictures and reportedly feels his presence on the West Coast would enhance his chance of making big money in those areas of the entertainment industry.

"Based on bits of information I'd rather not disclose, I'm convinced the Rams will do what is necessary to acquire Joe," Walsh said Thursday.

Namath's agent said he met with Rams officials four times during the past two weeks to determine if there was a sincere interest in acquiring Namath, adding he did not know when a deal might be concluded.

Rams owner Carroll Rosenbloom currently is out of the country and Don Klosterman, the team's general manager, is out of the city. It appeared the next conferences would come at the NFL meetings in Phoenix next week.

If a deal cannot be made by the Jets, they must inform Namath by April 1 if they plan to pick up the option year on his contract.

Opinions On Common Council Offered

Councilman Urges More Participation By Local Citizens In City Government

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is an exclusive interview with Murray Common Council member H. Ed Chrisman, who has announced his intention not to file for re-election to the council. In his answers to questions (which appear in boldface) Chrisman offers insight into his reasons for not running for council again and into the inner workings of the Murray Common Council.)

Will you explain why you have decided not to file for re-election to the city council?

There are about three reasons.

1. Because of my age, I felt two terms would be enough.

2. I have very strong feelings that it is the obligation of other local residents to assume the responsibility of directing the affairs of the city.

3. Another factor has been the sale of my business and the possibility that I may not stay in Murray. Therefore, it would not be in order for me to run and if elected, possibly have to resign during my term. Our present system of appointing members to fill unexpired terms does not appeal to me.

What do you feel has been accomplished during the past three years and three months while you've served on the council?

The efficiency of the city government has been improved considerably and in my opinion the citizens of Murray receive more value for their tax dollar than any city in West Kentucky, and probably the entire state.

In almost every city within 50 to 75 miles of Murray the taxes are greater, budgets are larger in relation to per capita and several also have occupational and gross receipts taxes which Murray does not have. I know several of our departments excel those of our sister cities with less expense and less personnel than Murray.

Can you be more specific?

During Mayor Scott's administration, we have consolidated some departments for more efficiency, reduced overall city personnel and employed some most capable personnel to continue the improvements. Authority has been delegated to see that every department operates properly and as economically as possible. The city currently has outstanding department heads and hopefully the city council will continue to support these departments.

The land fill is a good example of what can be done as it is the outstanding fill in the state.

Despite huge increases in workman's compensation, insurance costs, utilities, supplies and increases in salaries, the city has operated within its revenues for three straight years, in the face of costs rising rapidly. Of course revenue sharing has been a big help and is included in our revenue, but please remember, the federal and state governments are responsible to a good degree for our increases in costs, so revenue sharing is a part of our tax burden returned to Murray.

The city ended the year with receipts of $38,500 more than expenditures and that is a rather good accomplishment. The city also had revenue sharing funds on hand of $145,000.

How do you view the duties and responsibilities of council members?

I have strong feelings about my obligations as a councilman and the level of authority given councilmen by the Kentucky statutes. Some council members may feel somewhat differently about their authority than I do — not their obligations but their authority. Therefore, I researched the duties of a councilman as outlined in the Kentucky statutes, chapter 85, with the Kentucky Municipal League, National League of Cities and the Kentucky Attorney General.

Briefly, the city council in a third class city is strictly legislative and has no administrative or executive duties or authority. Those responsibilities are delegated to the mayor and department heads. Policies and ordinances are made by the council but carrying out such policies are left to the mayor.

It is the obligation to be as familiar as possible with all phases of the city's operation by each councilman and quite in order to consult with the department heads so as to be fully informed so policy and legislative action can be acted on promptly and properly. A councilman should not discuss departments with the personnel unless given permission by the department head and there have been a number of serious violations of these policies. One councilman, who was being congratulated on being elected after the last election by a department head who suggested it would be pleasant working together, made the immediate statement that the department heads did not work with him, they worked for him. I do not agree with this idea of authority and there are others who have tried the same approach which immediately places all city personnel under severe strain.

What obligations do council members have to the city?

A councilman's first obligation is to the residents of Murray collectively and then to the city. A council member cannot permit pressure groups, friends, relatives or neighbors to influence his vote unless it is in the best interests of all residents of the city and not in violation of city, state and federal laws.

Under no circumstances should his personal likes or dislikes, personal interests, personal grudges and disagreements current or in the past, influence his vote.

Have you had disappointments as a councilman?

Yes, some minor and some major, but that is to be expected where thirteen people are involved in decisions. We were put together by the people but it is up to us to be an effective unit. There are usually two sides of each issue to be considered (sometimes there appear to be three or four), and sound reasoning must be paramount in our actions.

Will you pinpoint some of those disappointments?

Not in detail, but in general my concern has been much greater since January 1976 than the prior two years.

Why?

That question can be answered only as a matter of opinion, although I can easily substantiate some of my answers.

My concern is the motives that appear to be influenced by personal disagreements, personal dislikes in the past, and efforts by some councilmen to discredit city personnel. This has had a very disconcerting effect on some of our very best personnel and more than once.

In fact, it will cost the city one of the best department heads.

Some council members are anti-city, and anti-administration, again because of past events, not even related to current city government and this has prevented progress in needed areas. I feel there have been deliberate and calculated violations of some city ordinances for personal interest to benefit a few at the expense of others, and violations of Kentucky statutes to control votes for future personal plans. I also note the failure of some council members to offer one constructive thought or suggestion for the past 15 months and rarely, if ever, offer one sound reason for the actions they take.

I find it hard to understand a councilman who votes on an issue "because he had a call from a friend" or "he promised a friend" or "my friends asked me" — that is in direct violation of a councilman's responsibility to all the people. But it has happened time and time again, even when our city attorney says such actions were in violation of city ordinances.

Do you have some thoughts about the basis for selecting a city council member or is everyone qualified?

Yes, I have some thoughts about those serving as members, in addition to the requirements of law, but phrasing it tactfully without offending is difficult. And again, these are my feelings as not all will agree with my thinking. But I feel strongly about Murray and its welfare and have never been bashful about supporting it, nor trying to work in its best interest or beating around the bush, when I think its welfare is being handicapped.

I believe every citizen can and should contribute to the welfare of Murray and Calloway County to the best of his ability as a part of his obligation to carry a part of the load. It is no more my responsibility than it is yours or anyone else's plus the fact I have lived in Murray less than eleven years.

I do not agree with the attitude of many who "do not want to get involved, do not want to be subjected to criticism, telephone calls, complaints, requests for favors and while someone has to do it, not me."

All of us know every citizen of voting age cannot serve as a council member for many reasons. Time, occupation, out-of-town too often and many valid reasons but also because some are simply not capable. But there is a service of some kind every person can render and there are hundreds who are qualified who understand fiscal and financial responsibility, who are not "yes" men who can and will think for themselves, who will not be pressured and who believe the city can be operated on a businesslike basis up to a point (a thought to keep in mind is that city government is not a profit-making entity in general as is a business).

There are a lot of people who could and should serve the city government. There are no programs, policies, dreams, goals or just everyday operations which will appeal to or win approval of each councilman or every citizen alike, but if our objectives are sound and our reasons are good for serving our community, then a minimum of disagreement will take place and not the turmoil that I feel has been present since January of 1976.

Does the mayor and council have goals of importance for 1977?

Yes, I have found this administration's leadership to be dedicated to the best interest of Murray and goals in general have been good for the people. I have had no problem in supporting most of them and I appreciate the time and effort spent in discussing city affairs in general with other town's leaders, state and federal officials and then profiting from their mistakes and successes in behalf of Murray.

In 1977, central billing will become a reality and it will save the people of Murray and the city money. Central purchasing will also come, to pass before many months, another savings. Our communication system hopefully will be upgraded for the entire city government and there will be other improvements as time permits.

You have commented to a degree. Are there other thoughts?

I believe I have expressed my feelings rather strongly and some may feel too strongly as my name will not be on the ballot. But please remember, I will serve through 1977 and am most willing to answer any questions I can about city government.

I urge those who have a sincere interest in Murray, who will think for themselves, who will leave politics out of our local government and especially the various city departments, and who will not submit to pressures, to consider entering the primary.

I encourage those who can serve in the best interest of all to consider the race. But please look carefully at those who are on the ballot, whether new candidates or current members. Consider their qualifications, past record, and any interests which might prevent them from properly representing the people first and the city second. Are they capable of managing the affairs of the city?

There are some who feel the council needs a watchdog or controversial members who will prevent an orderly process of action. It is entirely in order for each council member to be a watchdog although each member is not always qualified.

But it is not in the best interests of the people or the city to have a member or members constantly finding fault, publicly advocating one policy and privately supporting another, speaking half-truths when the members know all the facts and members who agree to support a policy one day and then switch the next because of improper pressures and motives, when harmony is needed and deserved by those who elected us.

The city council must have common goals that are practical, possible to attain and at the least possible expense to the city and to the residents for services rendered. We have had such a program since Jan. 1, 1974 and 1977 can be a most productive year if the council members will perform as good councilmen and leave their personal ambitions, grudges and dislikes at home.

But I again encourage all residents of Murray to become more familiar with city government, to be considerate of all sections of the city, not just your area when it may be affected, to understand and appreciate that what a few may want or may not want does not necessarily justify council action to support that demand because others may feel to the contrary.

Come to the city council meetings often and do not wait until some action affects you. I do believe in an informed public and hopefully that can be done in the future.

Will you miss serving on the city council?

Yes, because a great many people have been most kind to me. I have enjoyed the experiences which have often been rewarding. I am under no illusions that every program I have supported or every vote I made was a correct one. But my reasons appeared right to me, in the best interests of our people and proper under the law. I never cast one vote under pressure from anyone and can recall only one vote I probably would change in retrospect.

I have missed only one regular meeting in almost 40 months because it was important to me to learn all possible about the complexities of city government. Regardless of our feelings about progress or a definition of progress, this is a growth area and all of us must realize city government should be planned ahead — well ahead — and negative thinking by the city council will produce problems we do not need. But the residents of Murray cannot afford to think negative nor elect council members who do not have our best interests at heart.

The past 15 months have given me great concern about our council and I sincerely hope the voters look carefully at those names on the May ballot.

I have benefitted as a council member because of the opportunity to meet many people, to listen to the likes and dislikes of the voters, to try to assist in solving some of those problems and to learn many things I would not have known.

Newspapers still play an important role, particularly as a source of local news and information on where to shop. These are two findings from a survey of 3,069 people in 58 cities and towns in Oklahoma.

The survey was conducted for the Oklahoma Newspaper Advertising Bureau by Dr. Gerald L. Grotta, coordinator of the Journalism Research Center at the University of Oklahoma and consultant with RMH Research, Inc. of Ridgewood, New Jersey.

People in the state-wide random sample were asked where they get most of their information on various topics. The majority (68.9 per cent) said they get most of their national-international news from television. But the results were reversed for local news and information on where to shop.

For local news 67.7 per cent said they get most of their information from their local newspaper compared with 15.3 per cent for radio and 13.0 per cent for tv.

Most people (74.4 per cent) said they can rely on newspapers as the primary source of information on where to shop. Radio was listed by only 4.1 per cent, tv 5.8 per cent and 15.1 per cent listed "other sources."

Most readers are subscribers to their local newspaper but many buy copies from news racks or in stores.

Good news for pencil chewers. It's not only all right for you to nibble on a pencil, but you can go whole hog and eat one a day, point and all, without any ill effects whatsoever, says David E. Price, vice president of the Pencil Makers Association.

Price said that in New York, a pediatrician who has studied lead poisoning has concluded that pencils pose no danger to health at all.

"Children were the ones who were being poisoned," said Price. "But pencils weren't to blame. They were getting sick from eating old paint in old tenements. We came up in our research with an old lady in Nashville, who eats about a dozen pencils a week. She just likes the taste, she told us."

Price also added that the 100 billionth pencil was manufactured this year. Other facts he offered are that a pencil can draw a line 35 miles long and write 45,000 words. Three out of four pencils are yellow.

By H. C. Chiles THE WAY OF RESPONSIBLE STEWARDSHIP

Through being faithful stewards of that which God entrusts to His children, they are able to prove that they have accepted the Lordship of Christ, that truly love Him, and that they are vitally interested in the salvation and spiritual welfare of others.

Luke 16:10-15

One who is faithful in little things will be faithful in larger things. One who is not faithful in little things would not be faithful in larger things, if he should have the opportunity to do so. Those who have proved themselves to be faithful in small things are the ones whom God is using to carry on His work in the world, and thereby giving evidence of their trust in Him, of their love for Him, and of their gratitude to Him. Faithfulness in stewardship and in service for Christ must take precedence over all other activities of Christians.

In the realm of service for Christ there cannot be any divided allegiance. Either one is for Christ or against Him. Of necessity, one cannot serve two masters. Because their wishes naturally clash, neither would be served properly if one attempted to serve both. Hence, there must be a decision as to which master shall be served. It is impossible for one to serve God and mammon and be loyal to both.

Although the Pharisees justified themselves in the eyes of men, they were unable to justify themselves with God. It is one thing to justify yourself before men, and entirely a different matter to justify yourself before God. In the light of verse fifteen, we are reminded that today much goes on under the guise of piety which in reality is an abomination to God. The important thing is to be justified before God, and this is made possible through the merits of His Son Jesus Christ.

God's children should be faithful in the stewardship of all their possessions — of self, of talents, of time, of money, and of influence. "It is required in stewards that a man be found faithful."

Mark 12:41-44

When the time arrived for the annual offering for the temple service, the pious Jews came from far and wide, bringing their offerings to the temple of their God. As they brought their offerings for the defraying of the expenses of divine worship and the maintenance of the temple, the observant Christ sat where He could see them casting their contributions into the treasury. In doing so, Christ observed much that was commendable. After the rich had ostentatiously thrown in their large contributions, a poor widow timidly, modestly, voluntarily, joyously, and sacrificially dropped her offering into the treasury as she walked by. What made her act of worship so gracious was the spirit in which it was rendered, the purpose for which it was done, and the relation it bore to her means and ability.

The widow's offering was the smallest contribution that was cast into the treasury that day, but it was the largest sum that she could have contributed because she did not have anything left. Christ always sees who gives, sees what each one gives, and knows why each gift is made. He knows the amount each one gives in His name and for the ongoing of His work. He also knows the amount that each person keeps for his own use.

How does our Lord measure and evaluate a gift? Christ measures a gift by the amount of love, cheerfulness, liberality, and sacrifice there is in it. One's attitude toward giving to the work of the Lord is a splendid revelation of that person's character and the reflection of his love for Christ. This widow's generous gift, which was an expression of her love and devotion, was shot through with the spirit of Christ Who gave His all on the cross. Those who win the Lord's approval in the realm of giving are the ones who are the most faithful and loving in the doing of what they can to foster His work throughout the world.

TVA Estimates Savings To Be $20 Million Through Insulation Program

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The Tennessee Valley Authority estimates it will save $20 million annually in fuel costs while 100,000 low-income families save on power bills through a program to insulate electrically heated homes financed by no-interest loans to be repaid through power bills.

The program, approved by the TVA's Board of Directors Thursday, calls for the insulation of 500,000 homes, with work starting this summer.

Power bills would remain the same after the attic insulation is installed for homeowners and renters who have the work done, even though the amount of electricity they use to heat their homes would drop sharply.

However, after the cost of work, estimated to average about $300 per house, is repaid through the bills, the customer would then be charged only for the amount of electricity he consumes.

TVA officials said the program is expected to cost about $4.6 million annually. Homeowners and renters can apply for the insulation through local power distributors.

Insulation contractors and suppliers criticized the program as a threat to private enterprise.

However, TVA Director William Jenkins said private contractors will do all of the work, except in isolated rural areas where there are no insulation contractors. In those cases, TVA crews will install the insulation.

The meeting Thursday was recessed for a brief period when an opponent of TVA's Hartsville nuclear plant project started speaking while the board was considering various contracts.

Mrs. William Young, who lives next to the Hartsville site, claimed the board was not following good business practices in awarding $5 million in contracts for the Hartsville and Phipps Bend plants while they are still waiting approval from federal regulators.

TVA Chairman Aubrey Wagner said questions could be asked after the board completed its agenda and recessed the meeting when Mrs. Young refused to sit down.

"I don't have a question, I have a statement," she said. "The consumers expect good business practices from the Tennessee Valley Authority."

Wagner, Jenkins and about 20 TVA staff members left the room while Mrs. Young was making her statement but continued the meeting after she finished.

TVA officials also announced that the agency will begin a test next week of a small-scale sulfur dioxide scrubber that may be capable of reducing the costs of such pollution control devices by 50 percent.

The equipment, called a "co-current scrubber," has been tested at TVA's Colbert, Ala., coal-fired generating plant, where it operated twice as fast as another larger $54 million scrubber at the Widows Creek, Ala., plant, officials said.

The utility said its cost is about $300,000 in the $4 million test project sponsored by the Electric Power Research Institute.

TVA said Monday it would use low-sulfur coal as opposed to scrubbers to comply with federal sulfur dioxide emission limits at its four older coal-fired power plants as ordered by the Environmental Protection Agency.

Tennessee coal producers, who mine mostly high-sulfur coal, contend they stand to lose $25 million a year if TVA follows through with its plans to burn low-sulfur coal.

However, Wagner said Thursday TVA will continue its struggle to get the air pollution standards lowered for the older plants, which now burn coal produced within the seven-state region served by the authority.

TVA has said the cost of meeting the air pollution standards will add $375 million a year to electric customers' bills but EPA officials say their estimate of the costs is $80 million less.

KET leads you into a world of DRAMA

PBS Movie Theater, The American Short Story, First Night of Pygmalion and Masterpiece Theatre are representative of the drama found on Kentucky Educational Television (KET) all year long.

Festival '77, KET's third annual fund-raising and public awareness campaign features some familiar, some unusual performances April 2-10.

"Hamlet" ponders the age-old question, "To be or not to be" at 9/8 p.m. (CT), Saturday, April 2, on PBS Movie Theater.

The Bellamys travel to Scotland during one Festival episode, and the other finds Georgina, reassociated with some irresponsible young socialites, involved in a tragedy.

The premiere of "Six American Families" Monday, April 4, at 8/7 p.m. (CT), begins a documentary series focusing on six U. S. households from different geographic regions and reflecting in microcosm, the strengths and tensions of family life in America today.

Wednesday, April 6 at 9:30/8:30 p.m. (CT), the Canadian Broadcasting Company creates a dramatic re-enactment of possible preparations, and what it must have been like to be part of the rehearsals and conceptual development by George Bernard Shaw for the opening night of "Pygmalion" in 1914.

Using letters, quotes and other extraneous bits of writings from newspapers and other periodicals of the time, the CBC relives the intellectual and witty relationship existing between Shaw, Mrs. Patrick Campbell and Sir Herbert Beerbohm Tree as they pursued the bumpy road leading to the very successful production of "Pygmalion."

"I Am A Woman" is a dramatic tour-de-force with Viveca Lindfors celebrating what it means to be a woman. Excerpts of material from D. H. Lawrence; Girardoux; Betty Freidan; Anne Frank; Shakespeare; George Bernard Shaw; Bertold Brecht; Anne Sexton; and many others -- some not so famous -- are used, leading finally to the climactic Helen Reddy hit, "I Am Woman."

Celebrate! All this and more, during Festival '77, on KET.

Administration Not Sure How To Implement Insurance Commission

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The state administration is not quite sure how to implement Gov. Julian Carroll's idea for a citizens' commission to review insurance rates.

Carroll said months ago the insurance commissioner is too powerful and that his authority will be diluted early this year by a panel of informed citizens.

Instead, it appears the citizens' commission notion could be watered down from the original concept.

Carroll has assigned James Gray, secretary of the cabinet, to wrestle with the problem.

In an interview, Gray indicated the time is at hand for him to make some recommendations.

"We're about two weeks away from making appointments to the commission," he said. "We're getting all the input we can."

But there are so many factors to consider, he added, that the commission itself may be asked by the governor to define its role on insurance rates.

First, according to Gray, is the question of membership.

"I think it should be small enough to be efficient, yet large enough to include persons in all economic walks of life," he said.

He said there probably should be representatives of labor, the consumer, commerce and business -- "and certainly we need one or two with expertise in the insurance field."

The second problem involves the nature of the work.

Should membership be full-time or part-time? Paid or voluntary? If paid, how much salary or per diem? And how often should the commission meet?

Gray said the main difficulty involves the definition of responsibilities.

"We have three ways to go on that," he said. "The commission could be advisory only, it could actually set insurance rates or it could be a combination of both."

He pointed out that if the citizens' panel became an actual arbiter of rates, "we must find out what power it could avdly assume under present law."

The cabinet secretary said the final consideration is whether the commission should adopt a rifle or shotgun approach.

Featured Speakers

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—A specialist on the Panama Canal and a veteran U.S. foreign service officer will be featured speakers at a University of Kentucky seminar Thursday.

Dr. Lester Langley, associate professor of history at the University of Georgia, and Michael Yohn, special assistant for press relations, Bureau of Inter-American Relations in the U.S. State Department, will speak on the history and future prospects of the Panama Canal in relation to the United States.

Anfinson

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Dr. Christian B. Anfinson, a Nobel prize winner, will speak at a University of Kentucky symposium on chemistry and molecular biology April 1. Anfinson was the 1972 Nobel laureate in chemistry.

He is now associated with the National Institute of Health.

That is, should it concentrate first on immediate questions such as workmen's compensation and automobile insurance rates, or attempt to delve into the entire insurance field?

All these problems have popped up in the wake of a Carroll proposal which press secretary John Nichols said "just came into the governor's head" during an interview with a newsman last December.

Carroll stressed at the time his suggestion does not reflect on Insurance Commissioner Harold McGuffey, but goes beyond any person holding a post at a given time.

As envisioned by the governor, the citizens' panel would function much as does the Public Service Commission, which regulates utility rates.

McGuffey's response was a remark that his duties are too complicated to be trusted to "uninformed citizens without technical knowledge of rate filing and claims."

He also predicted Carroll probably would appoint him as chairman of the citizens' commission.

State Income Tax Return Probably As Simple As Possible

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky's state income tax return is probably as simple as it can be made without giving up desirable state controls, says Revenue Commissioner Maurice Carpenter.

Carpenter predicted Thursday that Kentuckians will not see a drastic shortening of the state forms, despite a Department of Revenue study of ways it could be done.

"It's just too much to try to go to a single-line tax return or a three-by-five card," he said. "It would present a lot of problems to try to change it too much."

Carpenter said the study report, which he turned over to the Interim Joint Committee on Appropriations and Revenue, contained no recommendations on whether returns should be simplified.

But he said later, "We think we've simplified it as much as we can without giving up the ability to audit returns."

Carpenter said that in making the tax-return study requested by the committee, his staff "took the tax return and analyzed each section, starting with the political checkoff, the credits for dependents and so on.

"We cited the necessity for each of those things. Those two, for example, are statutory. In fact, that is the case with practically everything in the return," he said.

"It would take other legislation to simplify the return by removing them," Carpenter said. He added that while his department made no formal recommendations, he did not feel such moves would be advisable.

Other states have tried shortening state tax returns by collecting a simple percentage on a citizen's federal income tax, but most have abandoned the attempts, Carpenter said.

"They couldn't estimate their revenue. You can't predict it because the federal congress is in session all the time. For instance, last December they changed the rates," he said.

Another problem with a barebones state return, he said, is that "there's no way to leave an audit trail if you have just two figures."

Also, he said, "There couldn't be as much differentiation as there is now. You could not give the special consideration we have now for old people, the blind and others."

"The legislature would pretty much give up its autonomy as a legislative body, all its ability to make allowances for certain groups," he said.

The committee agreed to study the report and invite Carpenter back to discuss it at a later meeting.

Hernandez Says Marijuana Should Be Decriminalized

By SY RAMSEY
Associated Press Writer
FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — A spokesman for the state's drug abuse division says marijuana should be decriminalized in Kentucky.

The opinion was expressed Thursday by Dr. Carlos Hernandez, director of preventive services in the state Department of Human Resources.

He added that no decision has been made yet on whether the health unit will suggest such legislation in 1978.

Hernandez was responding the Carter administration's proposal to abolish federal penalties for possession of small amounts of marijuana.

The White House said earlier this week that the President's advisers think states should decide for themselves on decriminalization.

Kentucky law provides to a question stemming from penalties of up to 90-days in jail plus a $250 fine upon conviction of marijuana possession.

However, the defendant can be referred by a judge to a facility for treatment instead of going to jail.

"A lot of research conducted has shown that marijuana is not harmful to an individual," Hernandez said. "We certainly don't make it a crime to smoke cigarettes, and we know they contribute to cancer and heart diseases."

The physician said he does not think marijuana should be legalized, but "I don't think criminal charges make much sense."

The Carter administration's statement on marijuana was greeted warmly by an organization called the Kentucky Marijuana Feasibility Study Inc. of Lexington.

However, Gatewood Galbraith, president, and John Wilford, director said decriminalization falls short of their efforts at legalization.

They say legalization could provide Kentucky farmers with a cash crop worth hundreds of millions of dollars.

Their proposal calls for a central marijuana warehouse owned or rented by the state, where the produce would be graded for quality and price just like tobacco.

Retailers would be licensed to sell marijuana under the plan, and the state would require proof that a buyer was at least 16 years old.

"The Kentucky Study feels that public officials must produce strong justification for their public statements that marijuana penalties should continue to be enforced," Galbraith and Wilford said.

They called on Lt. Arthur Conkright, head of the narcotics division of Kentucky State Police, to release the data "on which he bases his official view" that penalties should be retained.

Conkright expressed surprise at that.

"Not only haven't I published my view, I haven't even given it," he said. "I've only been here a month."

Conkright had been supervisor of detectives at Richmond and London.

He said he has "no quarrel with the present law, though perhaps it could be improved."

From the policeman's view, he said, there should be some penalty for marijuana possession.

Priests Urge Pope Paul To Review Policy Barring Women From Priesthood

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A national organization of priests in an unprecedented move has adopted a resolution urging Pope Paul VI to "review" the Roman Catholic policy barring women from the priesthood.

About 70 per cent of the 200 priests from 45 states attending the National Federation of Priests' Councils convention here indicated their approval for the resolution, the Rev. James Ratigan, president of the federation, said Thursday.

"I don't think it's a radical departure," Ratigan said in an interview. "It was a culmination of the process that began two years ago, to look at the whole role of various peoples in the ministry."

Thomas P. Hull, spokesman for the group, said no other national organization of priests has taken such a stance on the subject of ordination of women by the church.

Pope Paul issued a statement last January saying women would not be ordained to the priesthood. The resolution, Ratigan said, will be sent to the Pope in about two weeks.

Bro. Bradshaw To Speak At Church

Bro. Willie Bradshaw will be the guest speaker at the 10:50 a. m. worship services on Sunday, March 27, at the New Concord Church of Christ.

At the same hour the New Concord minister, Bro. Ed Davis, will be speaking at Bro. Bradshaw's church, The Ninth Street Church of Christ, Paducah.

Bible study will be at 7 a. m. at New Concord. Bro. David will speak at the six p. m. worship services on Sunday at New Concord.

Council. . .

Chrisman noted that there are a number of meters needed, and that the city has no more spare parking meters. About 25-35 new meters are needed, depending on the recommendations of the committees after their investigation of the downtown area.

The motion was approved to request bids on 25-35 new parking meters. Chrisman noted that the meters are up by about $10 from the last meters that the city purchased.

Ordinances Numbers 637 and 638 were approved on the first reading last night. These ordinances deal with the implementation of central billing, and are necessary to bring the city utilities into harmony on collection procedures, and other rules and regulations.

POLICE REPORT
Councilman Chrisman reported on the activities of the Murray City Police Department for the month of February. There were 31 investigations, with a total of $8,285 in property stolen in the city. However, local police recovered well over $15,000 in stolen goods during the month. There were also 28 criminal arrests.

Councilman Howard Koenen received approval to advertise for bids on 75 sections of outdated or damaged fire hose in the Murray Fire Department. Koenen estimated that it will cost about $6,000 to replace the hose.

There was considerable discussion on the problems of traffic on Olive Blvd. and the surrounding area due to the closing of 15th Street on the Murray State campus.

Councilman Koenen pointed out that plans by the university to permanently close 15th Street will make it increasingly difficult to protect the MSU property in the event of a fire. The Mayor replied that a report from the state fire marshal's office will

PONTIAC'S ALL-NEW FULL-SIZED CARS.

The most exciting news since Wide-Track.

The year was 1959. And Pontiac was making big news with its revolutionary new Wide-Track design. An important innovation that gave full-sized Pontiacs a smooth, stable ride. A Pontiac trademark ever since.

Wide-Track also played a role in Pontiac's rapidly growing reputation for great performance. Indeed, in one glorious year, 1960, Pontiac swept three major stock car championships: the NHRA Grand National, the Darlington 500 and the grueling Pike's Peak Hill Climb.

Years and several championships later, Pontiac was still combining that great performance with some of the hottest styling to ever come out of Detroit. Cars like the electrifying '66 Pontiac 2+2 with its 389 CID V-8.

Now for 1977, Pontiac is making history once again. With the most dramatically redesigned full-sized Pontiacs ever. It's the most exciting news since Wide-Track.

State Council On Public Higher Education To Make Long-Awaited Decisions Next Week

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—Long-awaited recommendations for the future of Kentucky's colleges and universities will be made public for the first time next week by the state Council on Public Higher Education.

The council, authorized under state law to determine the overall needs of education in Kentucky and to develop plans to meet those needs, has been working on the latest set of plans for months.

However, little is known about what the council will recommend. Council Director Harry Snyder explained Thursday, "you don't do that kind of planning in a goldfish bowl."

Snyder said he promised Council Chairman David Grissom not to discuss details of the council's plans before the special council meeting Wednesday in Louisville.

No action is expected on the recommendations until the council's regular meeting April 20.

Snyder said he wants to use the special public meeting as a forum "to have a thorough discussion of the draft, and to air different viewpoints."

State law outlines general mission statements—purposes and goals—of Kentucky's public universities and colleges, but the statements are very broad. The institutions have participated in developing their own, more specific, mission statements.

A report published last year on comprehensive planning for higher education in Kentucky said there needs to be better coordination between public and private universities and colleges and other post-secondary institutions.

The report, prepared by the council staff, said not enough consideration has been given to whether the responsibilities of one institution overlap or duplicate another. Their basic roles have not been evaluated, the report said.

Snyder said Wednesday's discussion of the roles of state-supported institutions will include the relationship of private colleges and universities to the public education system. The state's private institutions enroll about 15 per cent of college students in Kentucky, serving about 10,000 persons.

Snyder said resources of private educational institutions should be considered in any overall plan for higher education in the state, since it theoretically would be possible to eliminate needs for similar programs at state supported institutions.

Supplication of programs—and the elimination of duplicate programs that can't be justified—is bound to generate a lively discussion at next week's meeting, along with the council's determination of needs for graduate programs statewide.

Another controversial item on the agenda is tuition adjustment. "We've been trying to fit ourselves into where we think we belong" in the national picture, Snyder said. The student's tuition should more accurately reflect the cost of his education, he said.

Snyder said he doesn't expect large tuition increases, but any large increase would be phased in rather than become effective at one time.

He said the council will be looking at the state's students and programs with an eye to increasing student aid "so nobody gets shut out" as a result of tuition hikes.

L/Cpl. Thorne Now With Marines In Western Pacific

Marine Lance Corporal David D. Thorne, son of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Thorne of Route 1, Dexter, has departed for an extended deployment in the Western Pacific.

He is serving as a member of 1st Tracked Vehicle Battalion, homebased on Okinawa, Japan.

His unit is a support element of Battalion Landing Team One Slant Nine (BLT 1-9) of the 3d Marine Division. BLT 1-9 is the force-in-readiness for the U. S. Seventh Fleet; on-call to project combined air-ground forces ashore, if required.

During the cruise, his unit is scheduled to conduct advanced tank training at Camp Fuji, Japan, as well as visiting the Republic of the Philippines, South Korea and Hong Kong.

He joined the Marine Corps in August 1975, after graduation from Calloway County High School.

Estimates show that 8 in 10 of all women visit a physician at least once a year while the male ratio is 7 in 10, says the Health Insurance Institute.

Sparks From Rock Fall Blamed For Letcher County Explosion

OVEN FORK, Ky. (AP)—A state mining official says a methane gas explosion that killed 11 men in a Letcher County coal mine a year ago this month apparently occurred when rocks fell from the roof onto a piece of mine equipment, generating a spark that triggered the blast.

The 11 men died in the second of two explosions in the same week in Scotia Coal Co.'s No. 1 mine at Oven Fork. Fifteen men had died two days earlier in a similar methane gas blast.

H. N. Kirkpatrick, commissioner of the Kentucky Department of Mines and Minerals, said Thursday that the men who died in the second explosion were in the tunnel when the rock fall occurred.

Officials know this because the area had been checked before they went into the tunnel and that there was no indication of a rock fall, Kirkpatrick said.

"There was definitely a rock fall while they were in there," he said. "It was a big piece of roof that fell on a roof bolter that is where the second explosion started from. There definitely was a roof fall and it definitely hit the roof bolter, which could cause a spark, and the indications are that's where the force came from, from the second explosion."

Kirkpatrick said that is the state's conclusion of the cause of the second explosion but that federal officials haven't made a "definite determination."

Kirkpatrick said the first blast apparently was caused when sparks from a battery on a mine locomotive "probably kicked on."

"We haven't come to a definite conclusion on that yet," he said. "We are waiting on some lab reports."

"But it looks as though the first explosion came up there from possibly where the locomotives were," he said.

In Washington, Frank O'Gorman of the federal Mining Enforcement and Safety Administration said about 19 federal investigators are still at work at the Scotia mine and that they will conclude their investigation soon.

Then, the investigators will deliver a report to the U. S. Interior Department's panel set up to probe the Scotia blasts, he said.

The panel then will reconvene for additional hearings, probably this summer, before delivering a final report on the disasters.

Joe Pat James presented the program at the meeting of the Murray Lions Club held Tuesday evening at the Murray Woman's Club House. James, a past president of the club and past district governor, reviewed the founding of Lions International by Melvin Jones of Chicago who saw the need for an organization in which people were involved in service to others. With 25 members the first Lions Club was organized in 1917, and the first club in Kentucky was organized in Paducah in 1920. The Murray Club was chartered in September 1939 with 24 members, two of whom, Bryan Tolley as director and Dewey Ragsdale as third vice-president, still hold memberships. District Governors serving from the local club have been Fred Schultz, Sr., W. Z. Carter, Charles Oakley, Joe Pat James, George Ligon, and Cordie L. Caldwell who presently serves. Lions International with 1,181,030 members in 149 countries and geographical areas, is the largest and most active service club organization in the world, James said. The Lions annual light bulb and broom sale will be conducted April 25-26, according to Dickie Overbey, sale chairman. Guests were Thomas Gray, James Roberts, and Barry Steele, all of Murray, and Bob Kaiser of Lexington.

Attraction Of Opposites May Be The Only Thing Going For 'Switch' Show

LOS ANGELES (AP) — As Eddie Albert sees it, the best thing "Switch" has going for it is the relationship between him and fellow star Robert Wagner. It may be the only thing.

Albert shrugged and asked, "What else is there? It can't be the plots. They're the same as for every other detective show on the air."

It's that attraction of opposites — Albert as the irascible ex-policeman and Wagner as the charming rogue — that makes the show pleasant to watch.

"Switch" has never been a world-beater in the Nielsen ratings, but it has improved since it was moved from Tuesday nights last January to its current berth at 9 p.m. on Sundays on CBS.

Albert as Frank MacBride and Wagner as Pete Ryan approach their cases from opposite ends of the law, and therein lies the show's basic appeal.

"Pete is an ex-con man, a man who lives against the law," said Albert. "He knows a fellow who can get into the safe at midnight. Mac doesn't want to know about that but Pete gets the information and he's in no position to complain."

Albert's MacBride, on the other hand, is strictly on the up-and-up and the two are often at each other's throats about how to solve a case. It's these confrontations between two fine actors that bring the series to life.

Wagner's vagabond rogue seems to be an extension of Alexander Monday, the character he played in "To Catch a Thief." In that he was a reformed thief who put his illegal talents to work for the government.

Albert professes to be bewildered by those complicated plots that call for the two to hatch an elaborate ruse to outwit the bad guys.

"We've tried to simplify them," he said, "but I think they're still too confusing. I watch the show and get bewildered."

Albert devotes much of his free time to the environment and organic farming. His Pacific Palisades home is like a truck farm, complete with greenhouse.

"My real concentration is the development of bluegreen algae," he said. It is an organic substance which he says will act as a fertilizer and allow farming with only a small amount of water.

DISASTER: NBC's "Flight to Holocaust" at 8 p.m. EST Sunday ought to be subtitled "Have Rescue Kit, Will Travel." It's a pilot movie for a series about a team of freelance rescuers who step in when the going gets too rough for the police and firemen. If you can accept that premise, then sit back and enjoy this story about the rescue of passengers aboard a plane that crashes into the side of a skyscraper.

Patrick Wayne, Christopher Mitchum and Fawne Harriman play the footloose toughshooters, who keep one jump ahead of the bill collectors. Wayne even sells his girlfriend's Corvette to get their truck and equipment out of hock.

The roughhouse camaraderie between the trio works fairly well and could be developed in a series. Wayne and Mitchum are the sons of John Wayne and Robert Mitchum.

Desi Arnaz Jr., Sid Caesar and singer-composer Paul Williams are among the trapped passengers aboard the plane stuck in the side of a skyscraper, but you wonder why the producers spent the money for such guest stars when the script calls for them to do little but moan and groan.

NBC Saturday Night at the Movies, "The Stone Killer," starring Charles Bronson and Martin Balsam, a 1973 mystery adventure involving an underworld plot to train malcontent Vietnam veterans as assassins, at 9 p.m. EST Saturday. ABC Sunday Night Movie, "Return of Big Foot," a two-hour repeat of a two-hour "Six Million Dollar Man" movie, 8 p.m. EST Sunday.

Roy Wiggins Relaxing By Playing Steel Guitar

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Veteran country musician Little Roy Wiggins, advised by his doctor to stay calm because of recent open heart surgery, is relaxing by doing what he has been doing for 44 years — playing his steel guitar.

Wiggins, 50, had a heart attack in September and underwent a double bypass operation Nov. 9. It's said that being away from his steel guitar and his many friends in country music did more harm than the bumpy heart.

"Miss it!!!" he responded to a recent question. "It like to tore me up."

He says playing again may be the best medicine.

"The doctor told me to stay calm. My daughter says I'm happy now that I'm playing again. I do feel more relaxed when I'm playing."

Wiggins, a steel guitarist since age 6, played for Eddy Arnold for 25 years and has appeared on the Grand Ole Opry for 30 years. He currently plays for the Willis Brothers.

Wiggins, who got the title "little" appended to his name years ago when he weighed only 120 pounds, can make light of his 13 days in the hospital.

"The only two people in the world who do their job well are hospital people and the people who put pins in shirts. Have you ever tried to get all the pins out of shirts? And hospitals are supposed to make food bad — and they sure do."

One of the stories that Wiggins' friends relish telling concerns his foreign doctor. The doctor, who is from India, apparently knows little about country music. Told about Wiggins' steel guitar, the doctor envisioned a mammoth steel structure and wanted his patient to have no part in struggling to move such a thing.

"Can you imagine trying to explain to a doctor from India what a steel guitar is?" Wiggins said.

Nevertheless, Wiggins made a rapid recovery.

Diana Ross
One of NBC's Big Event specials turned out to be pretty good, even a little better than the album counterpart was "An Evening With Diana Ross."

Both the album and show depict Diana's career with the Supremes all the way through her movie career and her latest hit, "Love Hangover." The vocals were superb and the acting was great on the show but there was too much clowning around and talking on the album.

One impressive portion of the show is when Diana portrayed three great ladies of the past — Josephine Baker, Ethel Waters and Bessie Smith. It took nine hours to apply the makeup for these characters and acting was superb.

A cute part on the album and the show was "Smile" and "Send In the Clowns." Diana hit her greatest vocals during the "Mahogany Theme."

"Reach Out and Touch" and "Ain't No Mountain High Enough."

Santana
Carlos Santana has been dormant for a while and then hit the charts with "Amigos" and now his latest, "Festival." The first thing that strikes you is the beautiful album cover in red and green. However, if you look closely enough, you find it to be two green viper snakes in a bouquet of red roses.

"Carnival" dwells very heavily on Latin rhythms and bongos as seen throughout the cuts. It would sound really great on a Quadrophonic system.

The new Kenny Nolan album is finally out — it should be a chartbuster. Coming soon are a new Spinners and England Dan and John Ford Coley — all at higher prices.

The one cut that I really enjoy is a mellow type vocal sung by Leon Patillo called "Give Me Love." In that cut, the bongos do not drive you up the wall as they do in "Carnival."

The hit single, "Let The Children Play" is fair and by this I mean it did not reach the top 40. Carlos Santana perhaps has seen his better days if this losing trend continues in the future.

Overweight?

Quiet Diet Revolution Has Reached Calloway County...

But is creating a loud noise in communities in Western Kentucky recently introduced to NaturSlim. Bob Dunn of Holland Drugs lost 9 lbs. Pharmacist John Casey of Memphis lost 21 lbs. in only one month. In just 2 weeks Pharmacist Rex Mitchell of Memphis lost 12 lbs., and Marilyn Ratliff lost 20 lbs. They are living proof that NaturSlim really works, if you are sincere about losing weight.

Since September, literally thousands of Kentuckians have been introduced to NaturSlim. According to Wardlaw Steele, representative for NaturSlim in West Kentucky and Tennessee, the program has had such a tremendous response for several reasons: •100% natural - no drugs, shots or artificial ingredients of any kind.

•No exercises
•No meetings
•No hunger pangs or starvation diets

Let's Stay Well

Nasal Obstruction In A Child

By F.J.L. Blasingame, M.D.

Q. Mrs. K. C. writes that her 5-year-old son frequently has to breathe through his mouth, especially when he is sleeping. She wonders if the trouble could be from a deviated septum similar to that which required surgery recently in his father. She asks if nose drops would help.

A. Deviation of the nasal septum in a child of 5 rarely, if ever, requires surgery. His nasal passage will change and enlarge as he matures so that any obstruction from a septal deviation, if present, could be relieved naturally by his nasal enlargement.

He may be troubled with a nasal allergy, adenoid enlargement, or growth in his nose. Nasal tumors can be dangerous. Nose drops should be used occasionally, and only for temporary relief. Neosynephrin (one-fourth or one-half per cent) is mild and generally well tolerated.

If you have not done so, you should have your child's nose examined by a physician, preferably one who specializes in ear, nose, and throat diseases, to obtain an accurate diagnosis of the cause of the obstruction. Then, appropriate treatment can be carried out to try to obtain relief of the obstruction.

Flowers for the Sick? Q. Mrs. FB asks that I express my personal opinion about giving flowers to hospitalized patients.

A. Giving is a wholesome, constructive act that usually benefits the donor and the recipient. Flowers offer a beautiful method of expression.

However, flowers for the acutely ill in a hospital have several disadvantages that should be kept in mind.

— Some blossoms give off odors that may be objectionable to an ill person. Flowers require the labor of busy hospital personnel.

— They occupy valuable space in rooms, especially those that are occupied by several persons.

— Water becomes filled with bacterial growth. Some authorities believe such germs offer a potential source of infections. In this regard, potted plants are preferable to cut flowers.

— Carrying flowers home may be burdensome.

I prefer a call or a written greeting during the acute phase of illness. Performing a thoughtful act for the patient, such as washing gowns or bringing the mail, may be welcome.

Send flowers later to the patient's home when recovery is under way.

Carroll Won't Okay Paint Creek Project If Unconstitutional

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—If the state's contract to share the costs of constructing the proposed Paint Creek dam and reservoir is found unconstitutional, Gov. Julian Carroll says he won't sign a new contract.

Carroll made his statement Thursday to members of the Kentucky Rivers Coalition, a group of landowners and environmentalists which has filed suit challenging the governor's authority to sign a cost-sharing contract with the federal government.

The meeting in the governor's office came the day after President Carter announced he was reinstating funding for the Paintsville project.

The project had been placed on the president's review list because of several environmental concerns, including potential oil seepage into the reservoir and the loss of more than four million tons of low-sulfur coal.

The governor's position was reported by coalition members and confirmed by his press secretary, John Nichols.

Carroll told coalition members that he would try to help them air new information they have gathered on Paint Creek and three other pending dam projects proposed by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. The coalition is attempting to block construction of the dams.

In a suit filed last November, the coalition challenged the governor's authority to sign contracts with the federal government to share recreational costs of building the dams.

The group contends that the state Constitution prohibits a governor from obligating future legislatures to make appropriations.

Former Gov. Wendell Ford, now a U.S. senator, signed four such contracts with the Corps for the dam at Paintsville, the Taylorsville lake and reservoir, the Yatesville reservoir and the proposed Kehoe dam.

Carroll earlier informed the Corps that he had no intention of carrying out the contracts until constitutional questions were resolved.

Coalition members said they found the governor extremely knowledgeable about the Paint Creek project.

Chuck Hoffman of Lexington, a spokesman for the group, said after the meeting, "The governor gave us as much hope as we could have gotten."

He said he was still optimistic about halting the four projects. One of them, the Yatesville reservoir, is still on the president's list of projects for which funding was deleted.

A hearing is scheduled at 9 a.m. Saturday at Louisa High School to discuss the Yatesville project.

Hoffman said the coalition would prevent new water quality studies, an economic impact assessment and new geological information.

A hearing that had been scheduled Monday on the Paint Creek dam was cancelled after funding was restored. Hoffman said that has frustrated the coalition's plans to present similar new information on the Paintsville project.

But he said Carroll agreed to help obtain a review of the Paint Creek project by working through Kentucky's congressional delegation.

Comparative Taxation

Your house is for sale. The location is great; the price is right; and the community is desirable. But prospects keep turning it down because they claim the tax rate is too high. How do you meet this objection?

It just may be that the taxes in your town are actually lower per dollar value than neighboring, less desirable communities. Remember, taxes are not determined by tax rate alone. They're also determined by the valuation practices of the local assessors. In some areas, homes may be assessed at only 25% of true value. In other areas, it may run 50% or 70%. So you must take both the tax rate and the local valuation practice into consideration. Don't be misled by an apparently low tax rate.

This is one of the reasons why it pays to sell your house through a local Realtor. It's his business to be familiar with this vital information. He's an expert negotiator and has the facts to back up his claims.

Consulting with people about their real estate needs is our specialty. Drop by Purdom & Thurman on the court square or call Pat Mobley, 753-4451 or 753-8958. We're here to help!
